A potentially strong team from Mexico City College takes the field against the Bulldogs tonight, hoping to keep their one game win streak alive.

The Aztecas have not had too much luck with United States schools these past four years, but promise to give the Pasadenans a tough battle tonight. Last year the Aztecas were national champions of Mexico. They defeated the University of Mexico to receive that honor. Mexico City College last year had a tremendous scoring punch that scored an average of 50 points per contest. They only allowed 11 points per tilt. Included in that average was a 93-0 win over Escuela Nacional para Maestros, 21-0 triumph of Mexico "Y", a 31-6 win from Colegio Militar, a 61-7 trouncing of Politecnico Nacional and a 32-26 win over Universidad Nacional.

Turning back to this year the Aztecas have opened their defense of their championship with a 20-14 victory over Colegio Militar. In four previous contests, with American schools, the South of the Border team has played and lost them.

Mexico has fourteen returning lettermen, and a host of rugged individuals from this country with plenty of football experience.

Manuel Correa, at left end, has played five years in high school and city college ball. He is 23. Alphe Lopez has played at Lamar College for a year, at high school for two years and is in his second year at Mexico. He is 24. Twenty-two year old Alex Esquivel has had three years experience. Henry Sroka, 19, is now in his second year at Mexico. Another former Lamar player, Don Goza, is in his sixth season of football. Joseph McCune, Marvin Gray, Don Mullins and Whitney Sonnier, all are from Texas and have been playing football from four to six years.

What's this? We see two familiar faces on the squad. Bill Tomj and Dick Pierpont. Tomj is a former Compton player and Pierpont played at Pasadena City College for a year. How nice it will be if a former Pasadenan and a Comptonite should be the cause of a Bulldog defeat.

Un equipo fuerte de Colegio de la Ciudad de Mexico hace competencia con los Bulldogs el viernes entrante con motivo de seguir ganando.

Los Aztecas no han tenido mucha suerte con las escuelas estadounidenses los cuatro anos pasados, pero parece que van a hacer muy difícil la victoria para los Bulldogs. El ano pasado los aztecas fueron campeones nacionales de Mexico. Derrotaron la Universidad de Mexico así recibiendo ese honor. El Colegio de la Ciudad de Mexico tenia una capacidad tremenda que les dio un promedio de cincuenta puntos por cada juego. No les permitieron a sus adversarios mas que once puntos cada juego. Triunfaron sobre: (1) Escuela Nacional para Maestros, (2) El "Y" de Mexico, (3) El Colegio Militar, (4) El Politecnico Nacional, (5) y La Universidad Nacional.

Tocante a este ano los aztecas han empezado la defensa de su campeonato con una victoria sobre El Colegio Militar. En las cuatro pruebas anteriores el equipo (al sur de la frontera) perdieron cuatro juegos.

Mexico tiene catorce futbolistas que jugaban el ano pasado, y un sinnúmero de jugadores fuertes de los Estados Unidos. La mayor parte de los jugadores han tenido mucha experiencia futbolística.

Manuel Correa ha jugado cinco anos en la escuela superior y tambien en el colegio de la Ciudad. El tiene 23 anos. Alphe Lopez ha jugado un ano con el equipo de Lamar College, dos anos en una escuela superior y ahora esta en su segundo ano en el Colegio de la Ciudad de Mexico. El tiene 24 anos. Alex Esquivel, de 22 anos de edad, has tenido tres anos de experiencia. Henry Sroka, que tiene 24 anos, esta en el segundo ano en el Colegio. Otro ex-jugador de Lamar, Donald Goza, ha tenido cinco anos de experiencia en el futbol. Joseph McCune, Marvin Gray, Donald Mullins, y Whitney Sonnier son de Texas y tienen entre cuatro y seis anos de experiencia.

¡Que cosa! Hay dos jugadores bien conocidos en el equipo, Bill Tomj y Dick Pierpont. Tomj es un ex-jugador de Compton y Pierpont jugaba un ano en PCC. ¡Bonita situacion si un ex-Pasadenan y un jugador de Compton puesen la causa de una derrota de los Bulldogs!

Pasadena C.C.

BY MANNIE PINEDA
Sports Writer, Pasadena Star-News

Ever hear the one about: This football team had taken a licking, and as friend and foe straggled off the field, an irate alumni rushed at the coach, and demanded: "Coach, how many are there in the old school's student body?"

"Oh, something like 3000," the coach replied wearily.

"Well," the old alum came back, "Can't you find just two players who can get ahead of the ball carrier!"

As an old Pasadena City College alumnus I might ask my good friend, Bob Blackman, the Bulldogs' coach, "Can't you find just ONE man who can hang on to the ball from the PCC student body of 5000?"

When this little, old 1950 season has ended and they'll be looking into the musty, old records, it may be written that PCC literally threw away its championship hopes. Poor Bob has had more troubles so far than the class dunce at examination time.

But I might tell Bob that the worst is over now. You see, the '50 Bulldogs have nothing to lose and much to gain. In other words, the old pressure is over. The boys can relax and go out and win 'em all from here on in. If some fast back shoots past 'em and runs 10,000 yards to a teedee, Pasadena is in a spot where they can take the ensuing kickoff and run the pants off the opposition. It's happened before, and can again.

This ill luck of fumbling the ball when the chips are down can't continue forever. Why, even taxes are cut down! This writer knows for sure that the pressure of modern football is rough on a squad. Pasadena is no exception. In fact, it has been much tougher on the Bulldogs because they live in the city of the Rose Bowl. The junior college grid mode today is to point for "The Little Rose Bowl." Week in and out, the heat gets more unbearable.

After Pasadena lost to Los Angeles—on the scoreboard—I heard the chairman of the LRB game say that "we're probably more responsible than any one else." That's right. Pasadena people, particularly some of we old grads, get higher than a sailor on leave, but in a different way. We pull for the old school and want it to go undefeated. Before the LRB game came into being, this feeling probably wasn't "telegraphed" to the Bulldog players. Today, I feel it is.

After seeing PCC play, I can't help but know that one of these fine nights the fellows are going to click, and when they do, nobody will stop 'em—not even Compton. The truth of the matter is, I got money on PCC to that effect. When another good friend of mine, Tay Brown, hears about it, he'll probably want to get some of it, although he has agreed that his 1950 Tartars are perhaps the worst since he began coaching at Tartarville.

Let's analyze the remainder of the season: PCC has Mexico City College tonight, Everett JC, Ventura JC, Compton, Long Beach and Muir left. The Bulldogs can win 'em all! If they do, it'll be a successful campaign. Why, it could be that the Bulldogs would still remain in serious consideration for the LRBG. Victories over Compton and Long Beach—two of the remaining eight perfect elevens in Southern California—would be tremendous, more so if the latter two clubs are unconquered by the time we take 'em on.

With the exception of Compton and LA, I figure our side has a more representative schedule. Lessee. Compton has or will play San Diego Naval Training Station, Hutchinson of Kansas, San Diego, Muir, Weber of Utah, San Angelo of Texas, Ventura, Glendale, PCC, LA and Tyler. The Cubs play or have played: El Toro Marines, Modesto, Bakersfield, Pasadena, San Francisco, Grays Harbor of Washington, Centralia of Washington, Ventura, Glendale and Compton. That's as good as the Bulldogs and surely better than the other Southland teams with perfect records: East Los Angeles, Long Beach, El Camino, Bakersfield, Mt. San Antonio, Citrus and Palo Verde of Blythe. (Compton is the eighth team.) East LA, for instance, met or meets: Chaffey, San Bernardino, Valley, Harbor, Santa Monica (with a 30-player squad), Long Beach, San Francisco, Bakersfield, San Diego and El Camino.

Come to think of it, Pasadena is far from washed up in this LRBG biz.

Giblets is a polit word for a still more emphatic noun meaning courage. And giblets is what Pasadena has to show the rest of the season. Long time ago, when this writer was in school—I gotta say school and not college because that's what it was then—Pasadena prided itself in fighting for victory and defeat. I'd like to leave this thought with the PCC men of '50. Give it all out there—if not, get off the football field. When you don't give it all, you're being untrue to your TEAM. More important, you're being unfaithful to YOURSELF. Good luck, men.

Player of the Week

DEWEY BRUNDAGE

End Dewey Brundage was awarded the fourth traveling jacket which is given to the Player of the Week. Brundage played excellent ball on defense, and for the first time this season, played on offense and did a creditable job.

He was the main reason for the fact that Los Angeles had but 59 yards rushing. The Cub passers were rushed by the ends the whole game so that they could complete only 7 for 17.

Brundage played his high school ball at El Monte. He began in 1947 and played through the '49 season. In his last year, Dewey made all CIF second team.

Brundage hopes to be back here next year, and probably will if the draft does not interfere. He has a very good scholastic average. His major is physical education. When he finishes Pasadena, Dewey hopes to go to Southern California.

Brundage will receive the handsome traveling jacket at a quarterbacks lunch. As you all know the beautiful jacket is given by the Voget and Cathey men's store of Pasadena.

Other winners this year have been Bob Bills for his superb running in the San Bernardino game; Bobby Cox, one of last year's winners, was the recipient of the jacket for the Santa Ana game because of his great line play; and Bob Earp, due to his fine defensive work, walked away with the award for the Glendale game.

Mexico City College

Mexico City College is the only American type college in Mexico. It was founded in 1940 by Dr. H. L. Cain and Mr. Paul Murray. Although today a separate school entirely, Mexico City College is a direct outgrowth of the foundation. It is a non-denominational institution.

Until February, 1946, the college occupied space in the old American School Foundation building at San Luis Potosi 214. It then moved to temporary quarters at San Luis Potosi 131. On January 1, 1947, it was installed in the building formerly occupied by the Colegio Columbia, familiarly known as the "American School Annex." This three-story structure, built in 1938 by Dr. Cain, has the facilities necessary for classroom study under modern conditions. With the continued expansion of the college, additional space was obtained in the building located at Coahuila 223, a few blocks walk from the first locale. At present, the library, the art studio, a small anthropological laboratory and classrooms are housed there. In January and February, 1950, more space was found at Manzanillo 36, for small classrooms, a psychology laboratory, and offices for departmental chairmen; and at Chiapas 136-138 wherein were installed the bookstore, the college publications, and the administrative offices. Facilities are now available for approximately 950 students. The college is located in an important residential section of the city and is close to numerous boarding houses, restaurants, stores and bus lines.

Mexico City College won its first national championship in the '49 season, being undefeated in league play. Games are played in the beautiful Olympic Stadium, which seats approximately 60,000. Fifty-two thousand fans saw Mexico City College defeat Poli for the championship last November. The 1950 season will see Mexico City College playing five games against US colleges, from Texas to California. It is the hope of officials to build up Mexico City College teams to compete with first rate colleges in the United States and bring to Mexico the highest type of football possible.

Halftime Fiesta

The Bulldog Band salutes the Aztecas of Mexico City College! Gay festivities called the "Half-Time Fiesta" will feature forty lovely dancing girls from the Pasadena Settlement Association, the Spanish-tuxedoed beauties from the Bulldog Band, and band members themselves all in an elaborate Fiesta planned by Audre Stong, long-time director of the world-famous band.

This is the band's salute to international friendship as exemplified in this athletic contest tonight.

The Pasadena City College ROTC unit with four sharp cadets escorting the flags of two nations also enter into the spirit as the Bulldogs entertain the Aztecas.

Mexico City College has in ten short years developed a spirit and an atmosphere unique to that school. In a similar way Pasadena City College in its 26th year exemplifies friendliness and good will in its welcome to Mexico City College.

Hail, Aztecas.

SPANISH-TUXEDOED BEAUTIES of the Bulldog band are Marsha Lytle, Devonne Bond, Donna Bond and Judy Falstrom. Kneeling is Bruce Sweet, the band's bass drummer.

DANCING GIRLS from the Pasadena Settlement Association who will perform at halftime are Delores and Cecelia Sepulveda.

HONOR GUARD representing the Pasadena City College ROTC unit are Donald Proctor, James Carlson, Jerome Selmer and John Bush.

Principals' Extend Greetings

W. B. LANGSDORF . . .

Pasadena City College is more than happy to greet the fine team from Mexico City College and to have our young men meet in competition on the field in Pasadena's Rose Bowl. We also look forward with anticipation to our return game next year in Mexico City.

We feel that this friendly rivalry and close relationship between two colleges in our two great countries can serve only to promote better relations and international peace and friendship.

W. B. Langsdorf,
Principal
Pasadena City College

H. L. CAIN . . .

This game with Pasadena City College is the first time the Mexico City College team has played in California. It does not mean, however, that we are strangers to the state, for we have more Californians in Mexico City College than from any one of the other 46 states represented at the school.

The international goodwill that is being fostered by this meet shows that Mexico City College is going forward towards one of its prime objectives—the establishing of a closer unity between these two great sister nations, Mexico and the United States.

Henry L. Cain,
President
Mexico City College

MEXICO CITY COLLEGE STARTERS Don Mulins, Dick Pierpont, Buzz Sonnier, Al Lopez, Gene Lepper, Bill Tomp and Manuel Carrea in the line, and Joe Cerra, Bob Fox, Eugenio Arriola and Bob Schilling in the backfield.

COME ON MEN! Coach Bob Blackman is shown checking his Bulldog gridders aboard the bus as they got ready to leave for their trip to Sterling, Colorado, last year.

NEXT STOP: EVERETT, WASHINGTON

By DICK HAYNER

Thirty-five members of the Pasadena City College football team, along with two coaches, one manager and a student press representative leave for Seattle, Washington, Tuesday morning aboard the Union Pacific Pony Express. They will engage in an intersectional gridiron battle with Everett Junior College in the second annual Shrine Evergreen Bowl.

The game will be played on Saturday night, October 28 at Memorial Stadium in Everett. It is to be a benefit game for a crippled children's hospital. Students at the college are going all out to put on a terrific show for the Bulldogs.

Enroute to Everett the PCC eleven will take in many sight-seeing trips. From East Los Angeles they will journey northeast to Las Vegas, Nevada. After a brief stop they will enter Rainbow Canyon, so named because of the ever-changing coloring in the rugged rock walls. At Horseshoe Curve everyone will set their watch ahead one hour. After crossing the great Oquirrh Mt. Range, the Great Salt Lake will come into view. It can first be seen 27 miles from Salt Lake City.

The team will spend only 20 minutes in Salt Lake, just enough time to switch cars. When they wake up Thursday morning their watches will be set back one hour. At Umatilla, Oregon, enroute to Portland, the train will follow the Columbia River for over two hundred miles.

In Portland the squad will board the "Idahoan" and cross the Columbia River into the state of Washington. The train will go through many acres of timber and fertile valleys. Arriving in Seattle Thursday, busses will be waiting to take them to the docks of Puget Sound Navigation Company for an overnight trip to Victoria, BC.

Arriving early in the morning they will be guests at Douglas Hotel. After a hearty breakfast they will be driven to MacDonald Field for a practice workout. Dinner will be served on the ship SS Chinook on the way back to Seattle.

All day Saturday the team will just take it easy. Kickoff for the game that night is 8 o'clock.

On the way home the team will stop in the state of Idaho. They will make brief visits in Napa, Boise, Shoshone and Sun Valley. During their stay in Sun Valley, they will be housed in the comfortable "chalets." Following breakfast the next morning they will ride on the ski lift.

Arriving back in East Los Angeles at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, November 1, the squad will probably be given a big reception. They will be back on campus about four.

Last Week's Game

A highly keyed up Los Angeles City College eleven took the field against an injury riddled Pasadena squad, and walked off with a 19-6 victory.

Pasadena took the field with their ace, Lynn Aplanalp out with a dislocated shoulder. Lynn has been the sparkplug of the Bulldog attack, and last week proved just how valuable he is.

The Bulldogs scored first, when George Hammond threw a touchdown pass to end Bill Haisman. After the try for point was missed, Tom Novikoff, Los Angeles' all-American ran back the kickoff 92 yards for a touchdown. The try for point was good and LA was ahead for good.

It looks as if the Bulldogs are going to set a record for most fumbles in a single season. Against LA the Bulldogs fumbled eight times to up their total for 32 for the season. To add to the miseries, the Pasadenans have lost the ball 19 times.

So the Red and White goes down to defeat for the first time this season.

"Could it have been Friday the 13th?"

Next Week's Games

Next week the Bulldogs travel to meet the Trojans from Everett, Washington. This game will mark the second time that these schools have met. Last year the Trojans traveled to Pasadena to be handed a 27-9 defeat.

This year the men from Everett will be trying to prove that the great northwest has the better team than the picturesque south.

Everett in the short history of the school has piled up a very impressive record. In three years (1947-49) the Trojans have played 31 games. They have won 26 while dropping five. In conference play they have played 24 games and have won 22, while dropping but two. They were champions in conference play in '47 and '48 and were co-champions in '49.

Included in the Trojan's five losses are three defeats which California schools have handed them. Santa Rosa twice and the Bulldogs once.

This year, however, the Trojans have lost two very close games, tied once and have score a resounding victory.

Following the Everett game, the Bulldogs remain on the road the rest of the season, excepting the Muir tilt which is at the Rose Bowl. After the Trojans, the Bulldogs have their work cut out for them. They travel to meet a strong team from Ventura, with Don Burroughs, after Ventura come the big bad Tartars from Compton. The following week is another toughy with Long Beach. Last game of the year is the fourth annual Turkey Tussle with John Muir College. The Bulldogs took the first two games, while being the underdogs. Last year Muir being the underdog, beat the Red and Whites. The Turkey Tussle is on November 23 at 12 noon.
